

ABSTRACT

A method and system for processing a distorted digital image  $B$  that is a convolution of an undistorted image  $F$  and a point spread function. Noise is removed from the image  $B$  so as to produce an image  $B'$  of reduced noise. The image  $F$  is then obtained based upon a calculation involving the image  $B'$ .